This CRL entry has been reviewed by the detachment staff and the LMO team. Costumes of this type must be submitted to the LMO team via the GML forum at 501st.com for approval.

Required Costume Components

The following costume components must be present and appear as described below for approval.

Hair For 501st approval:

• The blonde hair or wig reaches from the shoulders to mid-back in length.

Dress For 501st approval:

- The long-sleeved dress is made of blue material with a yellow choker style collar.
- The front skirt panel is approximately 20 cm wide and reaches to the ankles.
- The skirt fabric is slightly gathered, producing folds down the length of the panel.
- The back skirt panel is also ankle length and gathered, and touches the front panel on each side.
- The right sleeve of this dress has two narrow yellow stripes sewn around the forearm, just above the glove. They echo the slanted angle of the glove edge.

Bodysuit For 501st approval:

- The yellow bodysuit is form-fitting and covers the torso.
- The neckline is a deep asymmetrical V Shape. The right side of the V has an obtuse angle, while the left side is a straight line.
- The front bottom edge of the bodysuit also has a V shape, while the back may be rounded or it may echo the pointed design on the front.
- The zipper is concealed in the back seam.
- There is no sleeve on the right side of the bodysuit. Instead, there is a yellow strap approximately 3cm wide. It is sewn to the bodysuit only at the armpit, and hangs loosely around the right arm. *The left sleeve of the bodysuit is a long sleeve with an attached fingerless glove. There are two cutouts on this sleeve that reveal the blue dress sleeve underneath. The uppermost cutout reveals the full shoulder. The lower cutout reveals the front biceps area, while the back of the arm remains covered by the yellow fabric.

Right Glove For 501st approval:

> The right glove is fingerless and yellow,

- and it reaches to mid forearm.
- This glove is cut at an angle, and may be worn tucked under the blue dress sleeve or attached to the sleeve to keep everything in place.

Footwear For 501st approval:

- The footwear is high-heeled black ?T-Strap? dancing shoes paired with yellow shin guards.
- The shin guards have a border pattern that appears thicker than the rest of the guards.

Optional Accessories

Items below are optional costume accessories. These items are not required for approval, but if present must meet the guidelines below.

Cape For 501st approval:

> An ankle length blue cape in the same shade as the dress may be worn. The cape has a large attached hood.
